Hi Rhonda-

I said I'd let you know, so here it is: I will not be needed in Springfield tomorrow, so I will be available for Fall River when needed.

Hi Sonja,

I would say there is approximately a zero percent chance this case actually goes to trial tomorrow. I have talked with the defendant's lawyer within the past day or so and he is not going to be ready for a trial tomorrow, plus we still have to argue a motion first. That said, feel free to make other plans in other courts. I suspect it will be weeks before you are needed still. I will try and keep you as informed as possible.

Best,

Matt

Subject: Comm v. [REDACTED]

Hi Matt-

I'm just check in regarding the [REDACTED] case that is going into the trial pool tomorrow (4/13/12). I do have a case scheduled in Fall River for tomorrow (I'm waiting to hear back, but I'm guessing that I'm going to be on call). I'm curious if the case actually gets chosen and starts tomorrow, do you think that you will actually get to my testimony tomorrow, or if it would more likely be next week? I've informed Fall River about your Superior Court case and that it would have precedence over their District case, but I'd like to let them know if you think it would be a problem or not. Thanks.
